

We guarantee confidentiality, and security of all information provided by our customers.

All personal information collected at our site are intended solely for the commercial use of our company and is not in any way available to third parties except for carriers in order to make the delivery

.
The client, through our website or any other form of contact will always have access to their personal data and the possibility of the removal or update